Robertson, former gunner in the British Royal Artillery and sailor for the hand of Miss Mary Campbell, daughter of former U. S. Senator Culberson of Texas, was freed by the court today. The kidnapping indictment was dismissed when the court was told that Robertson had refused to testify against Ellis, declaring he wished to avoid the publicity which would attend a trial. The indictment of Ellis was brought about by Robertson's charge that the former had forced him to leave his home in Bloomfield on the pretext that he was wanted in New York on a charge of stealing property of the British war veterans association. Instead of taking him to New York, Robertson charged, Ellis took him to Boston and tried to place him on a steamer bound for Buenos Aires.

Harding's Friends Getting Ready For Presidential Race

That He Will Run Again Is Considered Certain—The Question Now Is Who Will Handle His Campaign.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—The movement for the renomination of President Harding, which first took tangible form in recent conferences among a group of his friends here, has developed to a stage where details of the personnel and program of a pre-convention organization in his behalf are receiving active attention.

For the present the two most vital topics of these discussions relate to the choice of those who are to head the organization and to the various features of the country-wide speaking tour which the President himself is expected to make during the summer. Already a tentative itinerary for the trip is under consideration in quarters close to the White House, and Mr. Harding's advisors are putting their heads together to aid him in his selection of the topics he is to discuss.

Attorney General Daugherty's announcement in Miami yesterday that the President would be a candidate again, accepted here as further confirmation of the impression which has been current for some weeks in political circles, is expected to hasten the work of formulating a definite program and a definite backing with which he can go before the country.

The attorney general who was the Harding pre-convention manager in 1920, is regarded as certain to have a prominent place also in the campaign that now is beginning.

Because of his ill health and his official duties, however, Mr. Daugherty's intimates do not expect him to again shoulder the heavy burden of active pre-convention work he carried three years ago. Various names have been mentioned for that task in the conferences of Harding supporters, the list including, among others, Mr. Hays of Indiana and Charles D. Hilles of New York, both former national chairmen, and Colonel George Hursey, now American ambassador at London.

Some of the friends of Mr. Hays recently have been particularly urgent in their suggestion that he be brought prominently into the Harding pre-convention organization with a view to his selection as chairman.

Blackheaded Pimples Quit With S.S.S.

Why? Pimple-Poison Goes Where Red Blood Cells Increase! S. S. S. Builds These Red Blood Cells.

You can be sure of this, nature has no substitute for red-blood-cells. Pimple-poison can't live in the red rivers of your blood, as it is the enemy of red-blood-cells in it. More red-blood-cells!

This is what you need when you see pimples starting at you in the mirror. Black-headed pimples are worse! Pimples are worse yet! You can try everything under the sun, but this only one answer, more cell-power in your blood! The tremendous results, produced by an increase in red blood-cells is one of the A. B. C.'s of medical science. Red-cells mean clear, pure, rich blood. They mean clear, ruddy, lovable complexion. They mean nerve power because your nerves are fed by your blood. They mean freedom forever from pimples, from the blackhead fest, from boils, from eczema and skin eruptions, from rheumatism, from gout, from that tired, exhausted, run-down feeling. Red-blood-cells are the most important thing in the world to each of us. S. S. S. will build them for you. S. S. S. has been known since 1820, as one of the greatest blood-builders, blood-cleansers and system-strengtheners. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical.

S.S.S. makes you feel like yourself again.

THE BETTER WAY TO HEALTH

HEALTH TALK NO. 17.

Lucky is the man who can say "I don't even know that I have a stomach." In him that organ is working so perfectly that he isn't even aware of its existence.

Pain and distress of any sort are merely Nature's way of warning you that something is wrong. You may disregard those warnings for a time or you may heed them with drugs, but nature is a respecter of persons, and in the end you will pay the penalty.

Far better to heed the first signals of danger; find out the cause of your trouble, and have that cause adjusted. The cause is the spine, an obstruction of the flow of vital current over the nerves, an obstruction brought about by the pressure of hard bones substance against delicate nerve substance.

Let us examine your spine and tell you why you are having these distressing symptoms—Nature's warnings. Consultation and spinal analysis free—only way of convincing you that Chiropractic is Truly the better way to health.

Thousands Await Job To Strike Their Fancy Now

NEW YORK, March 17.—Good jobs are going begging. Despite this, there are thousands of workers today who are voluntarily unemployed, hanging around and waiting for a job that just strikes their fancy. Thousands of dollars worth of business which might be handled at a profit by manufacturers, producers and carriers are being lost in consequence. Steel mills are operating at a rate unequalled before war expansion of plants. Between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000 cotton spindles are active. Employment in the automobile and other industrial plants in Detroit today has reached 325,000 workers, the high point of all time. The building trades are begging for trained men and the farms paying wages unheard of in other years. Labor disputes however are looming as possibilities. Textile workers in New England have determined to demand an increase in pay and a strike of 36,000 operatives is the alternative they offer to the granting of their demands. Other factory struggles which may involve thousands of employees.

Low Clothing Prices
Perhaps the most dominant factor in the commercial and mercantile field of the week has been the low prices named for spring and fall clothing by Hart Schaffner and Marx of Chicago. They have announced their wholesale prices for men's garments on a basis of $22 for men's suits and $22.50 for overcoats.

This has forced the other clothing manufacturers either to meet these prices or scramble for the leavings. It is generally admitted in the clothing trade that the big Chicago firm is in a position to book whatever amount of business it desires at these figures.

Raw Wool Market Stationary
The shearing of wool on the western ranges has begun in earnest but marketing of the product has not kept pace. The easing of the foreign market, while slight, has set a definite limit on advance of prices to domestic growers and buyers now in the field are extremely cautious in considering the demand of growers. The market however have not lost faith in the statistical position of the staple and are determined to exact the last cent possible for the mills. Few dealers however believe that even the Jericho pool in Utah will bring the sixty cents a pound demanded for it.

Cotton Cloth In Strong Position
Cotton cloths have shown no falling-off of either price or demand. Sales or prices. Retailers are filling their requirements up to and beyond July 1, and mills are cautious about booking more business at present price levels.

There is small doubt that cotton acreage will reach record proportions but the size of the crop is dependent on weather conditions and supply of insecticides. The bitter dispute between Dr. Miller Reese Hutchinson, head of the National Campaign for Soil Weevil Control and the American Cotton Association bids to leave many acres of cotton in the hands of the weevils which both seek to check.

The Price of Calcium Arsenate
The boll weevil poison has ceased to advance and is selling at eight cents a pound with more in sight than was expected. It is asserted that 22,000,000 pounds are now available and the copper smelter's main products are more active than for two years.

Silk Shows No Weakness
The prices for raw silk have strengthened rather than weakened. Japanese prices have not advanced but the cotton silks have moved up to a parity at the Yokohama and New York markets.

The vigorous for deauville handkerchiefs has been so exceptional that these pieces of silk now sell for from $5 to $10 each at retail.

Lumber Mills are now at full capacity and the steady and increasing demand for building materials is advancing in price and firmness following the general trend, were advanced today 10 per cent.

GROWERS MUCH ELATED OVER CASH PAYMENTS

(Special from Tobacco Growers News Bureau.)

RALEIGH, N. C., Mar. 17.—Tobacco growers in two states are members of the Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association are elated over the payment of a million and a half dollars which affected thousands of growers in the States of Virginia and in Eastern North Carolina.

Co-operative growers at Lynchburg, Appomattox and Farmville were especially elated over the second payment of $1,500,000 which was well over a thousand dollars and added to the first advances which netted most of the co-operative farmers larger cash receipts than they have gained from their entire sales in average years.

With numbers of growers averaging $19 and $20 per hundred on their two payments and the certainty of another substantial disbursement to the members of the district, the association gained new strength to the five-year contract at a number of markets today. From New Canton, Va., A. H. Cole, Co-operative manager at that point, reports that today's payment is certain to result in a greatly increased sign up and reports individual averages that have run as high as thirty two dollars for one hundred pounds delivered to date as individuals.

Among high averages reported from New Canton, are those of O. W. Arney and another, for $26.75 per hundred, C. W. Moten for $21.75 per hundred, E. E. Budge for $21.40 and S. F. Fiqua for an average of $22.00 per hundred.

COMES TO TALK WORLD PEACE; HE'S NOT LEAGUE CRUSADER

BY MILTON BRONNER
(Special to The Bee.)

LONDON, March 18.—Lord Robert Cecil, virtual author of the League of Nations covenant, says his forthcoming visit to the United States is a crusade to show the League of Nations down the American throat. But he's going to talk about it considerably.

"I'm not going to give Americans advice," he said in an interview with NPA Service on the eve of his departure for New York. "But I will discuss the league and its accomplishments. Also the world court. And if Americans ask me I shall honestly tell them that it is for Americans themselves to determine."

Lord Robert expects to see President Harding and former President Wilson. He will be the guest of friends who have urged him to visit the United States; he has never been there, though he has visited Canada. Speeches on his trip include New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago and Cincinnati. Other cities may be added.

The latest Cecil project, which will be discussed by the League of Nations assembly next June, will be fully explained in his American speeches. "Under the league covenant," he said, "nations ought to prepare plans for a reduction of armaments. But the trouble is to find a plan taking into account all the present European circumstances."

"My plan's essential principle is that you can't ask a state to reduce armaments without likewise giving a guarantee against aggression. No plan makes it more definite."

"Any state wishing to reduce armaments, and fearing possible attack, would lay the matter before the league, explain the condition in which it finds itself, and explain the military or naval or aerial aid it deems necessary if it disarmed partially. The league would then negotiate with members nations concerning such military, naval or aerial aid."

"The obligation to reduce armaments could not be invoked against a state until such a guaranty pact was concluded. In brief: No guarantees without promise of armament reduction, and guaranty against all aggression.

LORD ROBERT CECIL

"I shall also explain the plan discussed on the continent to prevent trouble where two neighbor states become nervous about each other's intentions. The plan provides that strip along both sides of the frontier be neutralized to the extent that railways would be built merely for commercial and not strategic purposes, and no soldiers, forts, or military preparations of either state be allowed within that strip. A zone perhaps 20 miles broad would be sufficient to prevent any sudden incursion by one country into the other's territory."

Lord Robert will sail on the Majestic March 21.

CRUPPER ASKED TO SELECT MAN

BY GEORGE H. MANNING
(Special to The Register.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 17.—The Postoffice Department has requested Republican State Chairman Joseph Crupper to choose a postmaster for Lexington from between Clunk Patton, Mason Deaver and Clunk Patton, Mason Deaver and Clunk Patton.

H. M. Crupper, these are the three eligibles certified by the civil service commission as a result of the examination of the candidates held on February 6th.

PAR CLEARANCE CASES UP AGAIN

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 17.—Urging the importance to the public and to themselves of a prompt decision, a number of banks in Georgia and North Carolina filed in the Supreme Court today motions to advance two cases, which would test the validity of that section of the Federal Reserve Act under which the Federal Reserve Banks undertake to collect at par within their district all checks deposited with them.

The two cases were brought by the American Bank and Trust company and other banks of Georgia, and the Farmers and Merchant Bank of Monroe and other banks of North Carolina. The cases are so far down on the docket, that unless advanced will not be reached for decision at this time of court.

The federal courts in Georgia and the state courts in North Carolina decided against the contentions of the banks that they could make a small charge for cashing checks of depositors sent in from out of town places and sustained the position of the Federal Reserve Banks in requiring the Georgia and North Carolina Banks to pay them the full amount of the check even though it was drawn upon a bank which was not a member of the Federal Reserve System.

Toll of Storm Victims Grows

(By The Associated Press)

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 17.—The human toll in the tornado which swept northwest Mississippi Thursday was increased to 23 tonight with the death in Memphis hospital of Mrs. M. H. Rich, injured when her home at Savage was demolished, the receipt of belated advices from Batesville reporting the death of five negroes in a farm settlement near that town and further reports of four negroes near Rock Hill in Panola County.

Mrs. Rich was brought to Memphis immediately after the storm. Her skull crushed by the falling timbers of her home. Her death had been expected hourly.

The five negroes killed near Batesville included a man, a girl and two small children crushed in the wreck of their homes. Twelve other persons were injured, none of them seriously and twelve houses were destroyed.

The report of the dead near Rock Hill rounded off the toll of the storm. Three died under the debris of their homes while the fourth was found by a road contractor under a tree which had fallen across the highway. A contractor was repairing the damage to the road when he made the discovery.

The motor transport unit of the Mississippi national guard stationed at Senatobia under command of Lieutenant Albert T. Callicott went to Savage today to aid in the relief work.

Miss Camille Akers of Memphis was in charge of the relief work. The needs of the wrecked community for the Red Cross. Military tents have been ordered to shelter the homeless there and in other devastated settlements.

Of the five white persons dead, in addition to Mrs. Rich, three were drowned after being blown into the Cold Water River at Savage. John S. Kerr of Savage was crushed by the wreckage of his house which he had the day before restored to its foundation following its overturning by a storm two months ago. William Pruet was found dead in his bed at Walnut Lake after the storm. Death was due to health failure incident to excitement of the storm, it was believed.

Late reports tonight placed the total of injured at approximately 125, of whom perhaps a score are seriously hurt. Savage, a town on the Yazo and Mississippi Valley Railroad, 40 miles south of Memphis, suffered the heaviest of a dozen towns damaged. Only two halves of houses remaining standing when the wind subsided.

Early relief was furnished by parties sent out from neighboring towns. The Illinois Central Railroad sent to the stricken area two campaign outfits and a complete commissary.

Citizens of Batesville were sending aid tonight to the wrecked negro community of Masadina and Rock Hill where a total of 20 negroes were killed and a dozen injured.

Many were reported to be in great distress.

Police Prevent Patrick's Day Parade Fights

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Mar. 17.—Thirty-two hundred members of the police department, detailed to prevent possible clashes between Irish Free State and Republican sympathizers, guarded some 3,000 marchers in the annual St. Patrick's Day parade through Fifth avenue this afternoon.

The nearest thing to a disturbance was created at 42nd street when an aged woman, showing her way through the crowd to the curb, shouted, "Ow, ye dirty robbers!"

The laughter she caused disgusted her and she moved on.

Several Republicans, bearing placards, scoring the Free State, attempted to join the procession but were positively pushed behind the police lines.

Thirty partolmen were stationed in each of the 84 blocks along the parade route, while members of the bomb squad and the detective division walked alongside the automobiles of the marshals. A squad of mounted patrolmen headed the procession. Extra reserves were pressed into duty.

The greater part of the parade was made up of uniformed students of Catholic schools; the old Sixty-ninth Regiment, in full quota, a detachment of the Rainbow division, A. E. F., and some Spanish-American war veterans.

Most all the bands played "Wearing of the Green," to the exclusion of whatever else they knew. Governor Smith and his staff reviewed the procession from a stand at 64th street. Mayor Hylan, for the first time in his career as a public official, failed to join the reviewing party. Archbishop Hayes reviewed the steps of St. Patrick's Cathedral.

Why Fisco Fertilizers Are Superior and Incomparable

Phosphoric Acid, Nitrogen (commonly called Ammonia) and Potash are three necessary elements required for every crop. Of these three elements, AMMONIA IS THE MOST IMPORTANT AND THE MOST DIFFICULT TO SECURE IN A FULLY AVAILABLE FORM.

Ammonia is derived from Animal, Vegetable or Mineral sources, but Agricultural Colleges and farmers agree that ANIMAL AMMONIATES DERIVED FROM FISH MAKE THE BEST PLANT FOOD KNOWN.

The Fisheries Products Company are the largest producers of Fish Scrap Ammoniates in the world and manufacture a pure Fish Fertilizer in connection with other Fish Products.

Fish Scrap is actually worth more than double the market value of other Organic or Mineral Ammoniates. On this basis, the various brands of our famous FISCO Fertilizers are actually worth from $5.00 to $15.00 per ton more than other makes of fertilizers having the same analysis. This is the reason thousands of Southern farmers are able to testify THEY USE ONE-THIRD LESS OF THE FAMOUS FISCO FERTILIZERS and at the same time INCREASE THEIR CROP YIELD FROM 50 TO 100 PER CENT.

The Potash in our Tobacco Special is derived from imported German Sulphate of Potash exclusively.

Fellowship of Prayer

Daily Lenten Bible reading and meditation prepared for Commission on Evangelism of Federal Council of Churches

MONDAY
The Essence of Religion

"Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength."
Mark 12:30, 31.

Read Mark 12:28-40.

"The hearts of men must be cultivated with all diligence for out of the heart are the moving forces of the world."

MEDITATION: The Christian's
daily life is not governed by servile subjection to a higher power, but is happy through obedience dictated by love. Not through fear, but through affection flows the stream of life of the child of God.

HYMN:
O Love that wilt not let me go,
I rest my weary soul in thee;
I give thee back the life I owe,
That in thine ocean depths its flow
May richer, fuller be.

PRAYER: O God, who art Love, grant to thy children to bear one another's burdens in perfect good will,
that thy peace which passeth understanding may keep our hearts and minds in Christ Jesus our Lord.
Amen.

AFRAID TO LEAVE IT TO THE PEOPLE?

From our own observation
we believe that Danville has been grossly misrepresented to the state Legislature. If a large percentage of the citizens of Danville are against any necessary increase in taxes in order to provide the needed schools for the children of Danville, why is it that a small group of taxpayers send paid lobbyists to Richmond to defeat this measure in order that the voters of Danville will not be able to show their approval or disapapproval. If this small group of citizens who control a large amount of property were sure that the majority of the citizens of Danville were against the proposed bond issue they would never have wasted the necessary expense of employing lobbyists with hope that the voters of Danville would be denied the privilege of expressing their desires.

Undoubtedly they are afraid of their own statements being put to a test. We do not know how much is needed for the necessary school improvements nor the best way to finance it, but we do think that the citizens of Danville should be allowed to work it out as they see best.

It is purely a local matter and we do not see that a county senator nor the state Legislature should in any way
try to handicap a city like Danville which is consistently trying to better its conditions and is not asking for any outside financial aid. We are confident that the city council and the school board will work out in detail their proposed plan before the matter is to be voted on so that all may cast an intelligent vote and know exactly what they will get if the bond issue is approved by the majority of the citizens.

We think that Danville is capable of managing its own affairs and outside interference or advice is not asked for—neither is it desired.

One thing worse than having a job as a wife is being a stenographer.
Because it carries no alimony.

YOUR CAREER.

If you weren't born to be a superman, you'll never be one. Every human being is born into the world with the potential ability to develop just so far but no farther.

This theory, about any individual's limitations, is advanced by Dr. H. H.
Goddard, psychiatrist at Ohio State University.

It sounds reasonable, since we all know that we cannot build a skyscraper out of one load of bricks.
Some of us are more gifted than others.
Also, we lack certain powers that nothing on earth can possibly develop.

Max Rubner years ago penned a similar idea: "For every pound weight of his body at maturity, the average man produces and consumes 362,900
calories of energy before he dies.
Death comes when he has consumed that amount. Nothing that he can possibly do will make his body produce during adult life more energy than the 362,900 calories; and nothing can possibly prevent his death
when this amount of energy is produced."

Accepting Rubner's theory, you can overwork or dissipate so that you will use up your potential energy sooner than if you live slowly and sensibly.
That's why loafers outlive the hard workers who are like furnaces that burn with the drafts open and so empty the coal bin quickly.

Rubner's theory was that our potential physical strength is limited, that it is impossible to increase it past a certain point. Goddard has a similar idea about natural abilities.

However, no one should be discouraged by these theories. Each of us has enough potential strength and ability to make us reasonably successful—if we develop them.

No man, not even an athlete, ever develops his powers fully. No matter what record a man makes, he has within him the power to beat that record. Occasionally we think we have exerted ourselves "to the last ounce of strength," but that's imaginary.

Look at your work, as you have done it.

Maybe there are others who could do it better.

But you also can improve on it.

Just because we can't all finish first in the race is no reason why we shouldn't try to get second place.

And the ultimate result? The runner who finishes first developed his power to finish first by constantly struggling and training until he got out of second place.

Yes, we are limited and know it without professors telling us, but none of us is as limited as he thinks he is.

Just Linger in a Bank.
I take all kinds of folks, you

Just as he answers with a smile, to me about Priscilla Bradford. I think, in fact I know, that Karl would have been glad to have had me for his wife.

Mary Alden was tactless enough to tell Bradford—"This is the man we all thought Miss Hamilton would marry."

Karl, bless his heart, loyal to me to the last, answered, "This man did not make such an impression as that Miss Alden, although he would have been happy to have been principal in the

I could have hugged him: Yes

I think that's about all of interest

have high French heels and contrasted

Darling, I'm so glad we are not going to live in your old home town.
I never could be friends with your

You haven't said one word to me about whether you ever told another girl you loved her. Surely you did you? Don't think it is too trivial a question to answer, John, for I could

Not that I am jealous! Oh, no!
I never could be jealous: that is an

Dear boy, I am rambling along in

Now I'm sitting on the arms of your

when you and I will go away together

THE WINDS OF DEATH BY E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM Copyright, 1922, by E. Phillips Oppenheim Arranged by NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Vendetta begins between MICHAEL SAYERS, noted criminal,
and
SIR NORMAN GREYES, once of Scotland Yard, when Sayers shoots dead an officer sent to arrest him. Janet becomes Sayers' wife and accomplice. While Sir Norman is living at his country house, Greyes Manor, he narrowly escapes death in several suspicious "accidents," and is convinced that his enemy is again in England.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY
Janet Continues
At five minutes to one, however, even this condition was amended. A youth from the hall porter's office put a package into my hand which had just been left by a messenger. I opened it and found half a dozen familiar morocco cases. A portion of the jewelry, which I had never thought to see again, was in my hands. It was now clear to me that my husband had either already returned or was on the point of doing so, and that my help was needed.
Nevertheless three days went by without a sign or message from any body, three days during which I lived after the fashion of a cat, curled up in warmth and luxury, clinging to the feel of my clothes, reveling in the perfumes of my bath, eating good food and drinking wine with slow but careful appreciation. I felt the life revive in me, the blood flow more strongly through my veins. During those three days nothing in this world would have driven me back to my poverty. I would have committed almost any crime rather than return to it.

ON the fourth day I met Norman Greyes. I was leaving a hair-dresser's in Curzon Street when he rounded the corner of Chancery Street, carrying a bag of golf-clubs and evidently looking for a taxi-cab.
I was within a foot or two of him before he recognized me. I was conscious of a keen and peculiar thrill of pleasure as I saw something flash
into his stern, unimpressive face.
Enemies though we were, he was glad to see me.

"Good morning, Sir Norman," I said, holding out my hand. "Are there no more criminals left in the world, that you take holiday?"

He smiled, and put his clubs
through the open window of a taxicab which had just drawn up by the side of the curb.

"I am tired of hunting criminals," he confessed. "Besides, they are turning the tables. They are hunting me."

"Indeed?" I answered. "That sounds as though my husband were coming back."

"There are rumors of it," he admitted. "Are you staying near here?"

"I am living at the Albemarle Court," I told him. "He does not know where I am. I am sure I am one of the first people he would want to visit."

"It is a wonderful idea," he agreed, with a gleam in his keen grey eyes. "I would rather bribe you, though, to give him up."

"How much?" I asked. "He has treated me very badly lately."

"Dine with me tonight," he suggested, "and we will discuss it."

"I shall be charmed," I assented boldly.

"At my rooms," he suggested.
"Number Thirteen. About eight o'clock."

"Why not a restaurant?" I asked.
"Out of consideration for you," he replied promptly. "You are probably more or less watched, and your movements reported to the operation of which your husband is the chief. If you are seen dining alone with me in a public place, they may imagine that you have come over to the enemy."

"You are most thoughtful," I replied, with all the sarcasm in my tone which I could command. "I will come to your rooms, then."

HE nodded pleasantly, raised his cap and stepped into the taxi-
cab. I watched him a moment, hating him because he seemed the one person who had the power to ruin me. He was dressed just as I like to see men dressed, in gray tweed, loose but well-fitting. He wore a soft collar, and the tie of a famous cricket club. His tweed cap was set just at the right angle. He moved with the light ease of an athlete. I hated his shrewd, kindly smile, the clearness of his bronzed complexion, the little humorous lines about his eyes. I went straight back to my rooms and wrote him a

"GOOD MORNING, SIR NOR-MAN," I SAID, "DING OUT MY HAND. ARE THERE NO MORE CRIMINALS LEFT?"

few impulsive lines. I wrote to say that I would dine with him at my restaurant he liked, but not in Chancery Street, and that he could call for me at eight o'clock.

At half past three that afternoon I received the invitation which I had been expecting, and at four o'clock
I stepped out of a taxi-cab and entered the offices of a firm of solicitors situated in a quiet square near Lincoln's Inn. An office-boy rose up from behind a worn-out desk and invited me to sit myself on a hard wooden chair while he disappeared in search of Mr. Youngblood, the principal partner in the firm. The office was decorated by rows of musty files, and a line of bills containing particulars of property sales, the solicitor in each case being the firm of Youngblood, Nicholson and Youngblood. After a few minutes' delay, the boy summoned me and held open a door on the other side of the passage.

"Mr. Youngblood will see you,
madam," he announced.

The door was closed behind me,
and I shook hands with a tall, elderly man who rose to welcome me in somewhat abstracted fashion. He was untidy but professionally dressed. He wore old-fashioned steel-rimmed spectacles, resting at the present moment on his forehead.
In the shape of Mr. Youngblood, the partner of his late partner, a bygone generation. There were rows of tin boxes extending to the ceiling, a library of law-books, and his table was littered with papers.

"Mr.—er—Morrison?" he began,
using the name by which I had been

"That is more or less my name," I admitted. "I received a telephone message asking me to call this afternoon."

"Quite so, quite so," he murmured
a little vaguely. "Now let me see,"
he went on, looking among some papers on his desk. "I am glad to have been a client of the firm for many years, but my memory—oh, here we are," he broke off, drawing a slip of paper toward him. "My instructions, called from New York, were to hand you the sum of two hundred pounds. You received that amount, I believe?"

"I received it and have spent the greater part of it," I replied.

His expression became a little less benign.

"Dear me!" he exclaimed. "That sounds rather extravagant."

He scratched his upper lip thoughtfully.

"Your husband has, I gather, been engaged in operations in New York of a delicate nature. The world of finance has always its secrets. He appears now, however, to have brought his operations to a close.
You are aware, perhaps, that he has landed in England?"

My heart gave a little jump. I could not tell whether the sensation
I experienced had more in it of joy or of fear.

"Is he safe?" I asked.

"Safe?" Mr. Youngblood repeated a little vaguely. "Why not?"
There was a moment's silence. I looked around at the shabby but imposing office, and the significance of your question. New York was a curious place, and I understood—that the financial operations in which your husband has been concerned, although profitable, may have made him enemies. He traveled back to England, indeed, under an assumed name. Let me see—I have it somewhere. He went on, fumbling once more among a mass of papers.
"I had in my hand only a few minutes ago. Here it is—Mr.
Richard Peters. I am instructed to say, madam, that your husband would welcome a call from you."

"You have his address?"

"Yes—his address," he repeated.

"Precisely! I have it here—Number Eleven, Jackson Street."

"Mayfair?" I inquired.

"Mayfair," he assented. "The address reminds me, madam, of a case, that you must be prepared to see your husband—er—not in the best of health. He is, in fact, in a nursing home."

"Is he seriously ill?" I asked.

"I believe not," was the deliberate reply. "You will have an opportunity of judging for yourself within half an hour. I am to ask you to visit him as soon as you can find it convenient."

I sat quite still. I was trying to get these matters into my mind. The lawyer glanced at his watch and immediately struck the bell in front of him.

"You will forgive me, madam," he said, rising to his feet. "I have a meeting of the Law Society to attend. My compliments to your husband. Tell him to let me know if I can be of further service to him."

THE boy was holding open the door. The lawyer, with a courteous old-fashioned bow, evidently considered the interview at an end.
I went back to my taxi-cab, a little bewildered, and drove at once to Jackson Street. A nurse in starched linen frock and flowing cap consulted a little slate and led me to a bedroom on one of the upper stories.

"Mr. Peters is getting a letter from you, madam," she announced encouragingly. "The doctor hopes to be able to let him out at the end of the week. Please step in. You can stay as long as you like. . . . Your wife is here, Mr. Peters," she went on, ushering me through the doorway.

SOPHOMORE AS MAYOR IS POSSIBILITY IN KANSAS CITY

(Special to The Bee.)

KANSAS CITY, March 19.—A university sophomore of 24 may become mayor of Kansas City, Kas., a city of more than 100,000 population. A student at the University of Missouri, who is a member of the Phi Kappa Phi honor society, is the candidate of "Tub" Wyatt, student at Kansas City University and captain of last season's football team.

Wyatt, more properly called T. Lambert Wyatt, is a university sophomore by students as a university joke. Newspapers and voters took up the matter and soon Wyatt became the most widely discussed of a half dozen candidates.

It happened that each of the many candidates had a following that divides the vote many ways. In Kansas City, Kas., there are no party lines. The two candidates receiving the most votes in the primary become the candidates in a second and final election.

Predictions are made that division among the other candidates may make young Wyatt one of the successful men in the primary and followers of other unsuccessful candidates may turn to his support in the final election.

The position pays $4,000 a year. When the formalities were gone through to put Wyatt, football star of the small university into the race, it was expected the matter would be dropped.

But politicians grabbed at the position.

NO AUTHORITY TO MOVE AGENTS

(By The Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Officials at the prohibition bureau here said that Chief Miller of the prohibition forces at Louisville had no authority to withdraw his agents from Kentucky and that no such authority was likely to be given him.

Such a shift of forces, it was declared, could be made only on orders from Washington. The prohibition officials here manifestly were concerned over the court ruling against search of automobiles without a warrant, but they said they would make the best of a higher tribunal and no thought of letting the incident interfere with their enforcement of the law by all practicable means.

The question of the right to search automobiles in the enforcement of prohibition eventually must be decided by the Supreme Court legal officials at headquarters here said, but they were not able to say whether the decision of Judge Evans, who made the test case. A preliminary report of the decision was received by Acting Commissioner Jones who immediately sent for a complete copy and a detailed report of the facts involved.

Manson Sues For Million Against Shipping Board

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Mar. 17.—Alleging injury to his name and conspiracy to prevent his lines from getting ships allocated to him, Philip Manson, an official of the Pacific and Eastern Steamship Company, Inc., today filed suit in Supreme Court for $1,000,000 damages against the United States Shipping Board, United States Emergency Fleet Corporation and others. Allegation also was made that the plaintiff had been falsely and scurrilously attacked orally and in writing.

The complaint sets forth that Mr. Manson was called into consultation in the 1914 with then Secretary of State and other government department officials and that he advised the formation of the Shipping Board and the Emergency Fleet Corporation. Then he says various defendants became officers and directors of both bodies and that thereafter there were "many acts of corruption, waste and extravagance" which, he alleges, "redounded to the benefit of some of the individual defendants." As a result, he says, he felt "compelled to prefer charges" against these men at Washington.

Late in 1914, Manson says, the American minister at Peking reported that the Chinese government had expressed a desire to organize a steamship line between Chinese and American ports, with American and Chinese capital. Manson says he "went to Peking with the advice and approval of the Secretary of State" and entered into a contract with the Republic of China for the formation of the Pacific and Eastern Steamship Company of which he became an officer and director. He also states in his suit that the United States government took an active part in the negotiations.

When it became necessary to apply to the United States government for allocation of ships, Manson alleges, the defendants conspired to prevent that allocation in order, he charges, "to punish him for his acts in opposing the defendants and exposing their alleged misdeeds as officers of the Shipping Board."

In that connection he alleges there were fabricated and placed on the records of the two bodies, the Shipping Board and the Emergency Fleet Corporation untrue and scurrilous statements concerning him and his business capacity. Manson complains specifically about a letter he alleges was written by Captain Roger Welles, U. S. N., director of naval intelligence, to E. F. Carr, director of operations of the Shipping Board.

FEDERAL JUDGE HOLDS WARRANTS NEEDED FOR CARS

(By The Associated Press.)

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 17.—P. Green Miller, chief of the prohibition enforcement officers here, today announced he would remove his entire force of agents from Kentucky to Tennessee as a result of the decision of Federal Judge Evans, Friday, that automobiles containing liquor could not be stopped and searched without a warrant.

Mr. Miller said this decision would make his force practically useless in this locality, as it would be impossible to get search warrants for moving automobiles.

The National Prohibition Act "is not the supreme law of the land," Judge Evans declared in holding that the constitutional rights of Robert Myers had been invaded when his automobile was searched without the authority of a search warrant. He issued peremptory instructions to a federal court jury to exonerate Myers of charges of illegal transportation of liquor.

The decision means that no automobile can be stopped, searched or seized without a search warrant, according to the opinion of W. Sherman Bell, U. S. District Attorney.

Myers automobile was stopped and searched by J. L. Asher, prohibition agent, now stationed in Washington, but formerly operating in Louisville. Cars were seen in the machine before it was stopped and the driver, admitting the contained whiskey during the search, according to the testimony of the agent, which was uncontradicted. Asher, however, was not armed with a search warrant.

(By The Associated Press.)

BRISTOL, Va.-Tenn., March 17.—Charles F. Gauthier, former mayor and postmaster of Bristol, Va., today received notification from the Postoffice Department at Washington that he had been appointed postmaster of the Bristol office to succeed John G. Mr. Gauthier expects to assume his duties as postmaster at once. His appointment came as a recess order following failure of the last Senate to confirm his nomination sent to the Senate several weeks ago by President Harding.

BROOKLINE TEAM WINS

(By The Associated Press.)

BROOKLINE, Mass., March 17.—Mrs. George W. Whitman and Burnham N. Dell, a local team, today won the national mixed doubles indoor lawn tennis championship, defeating Miss Brenda Hestrom of Buffalo, N. Y., and W. T. Tilden 2nd, of Philadelphia, 7-5, 6-4. Mrs. Whitman was formerly Hazel Hotchkiss of California. Dell is a former Princeton player born in Jacksonville.

ANOTHER DEATH AMONG STORM VICTIMS SAT.

HONOLULU, Mar. 17.—Mitsuyo Hoshida, missionary and the first and only known American woman to become a naturalized subject of the Japanese Empire, is in Honolulu for a three months' rest in order to recover from an illness with which she was stricken after many years of missionary work in Japan.

What her real name is she will not divulge, and she says nothing of her early life, except to reveal that she was born in a little Wisconsin town some 60 years ago. She is a gentle, cultured woman, with fine, intelligent eyes and rapidly graying hair. Thirty years ago Miss Hoshida, as she is now known, went to Japan as a missionary and since then has lived at the Japanese naval base at Yokosuka, where she has worked among Japanese fluently and is now studying the written language.

When the vessel on which she arrived here docked Miss Hoshida had to wait her turn with the other aliens to take the regular immigration examination. She likewise had to pay the alien head tax of $8.

RADIO TREATIES ARE CONSIDERED

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Receipt by the State Department of a report by the Commission of Jurists which met at the Hague last December was followed today by an announcement by Secretary Hughes that the Washington government might initiate negotiations looking toward a treaty or convention between various nations based on the report as it affects rules of international law applying to radio and aircraft.

At the present time the report is being studied by State Department officials as a necessary step before it can be put forward as the basis for a formal convention. Inasmuch as the commission was created by the Washington armaments conference, called by this government, it was said to be naturally assumed that the United States would take the initiative in proposing a convention.

The report was forwarded by John Bassett Moore, who represented this government on the commission of jurists. Army and Navy officers who attended the conference in the capacity of technical advisers to Mr. Moore are understood to favor adoption of the decisions reached in convention form by the United States and other powers.

Congress Talk Costs Big Money

WASHINGTON, Mar. 17.—The bill for printing the Congressional Record during the recent session of the Sixty-seventh Congress, comprising seventy-five legislative days, will exceed $300,000.

A devoted issue of The Record which made its appearance today cost more than $10,000 to print and of the speeches printed and the extensions that is printed, never delivered on the floors of Congress, cost more than $2,000.

The remains of Senator Heflin alone printed in today's issue occupy forty-nine and one-half pages, costing about $2,477 and of this amount more than $1,100 will go to pay for printing letters and editorials from country newspapers.

Heflin was commented for assaults on the Federal Reserve Board. Senator Heflin actually spoke from the Senate floor twenty-seven and one-half pages of the space allotted to him in today's issue.

Here are the printing costs for some of the speeches which were not delivered but were printed as "extensions" in the $10,000 Record.

Representative	Printing Cost
Marvin D. Madden (Ill.)	$450
W. Frank James (Mich.)	400
Car. W. Ruckelshaus (N.Y.)	375
Thomas R. Blanton (Texas)	325
William D. Upshaw (Ga.)	325
L. C. Dyer (Mo.)	375
S. Nease D. Fess (Ohio)	300
V. C. Hammer (N. C.)	250
Joseph W. Evans (Tenn.)	250
John Philip Hill (Ind.)	225
W. B. Oliver (Ala.)	200
J. Q. Tilson (Conn.)	150
R. N. Elliott (Calif.)	175
E. L. Davis (Tenn.)	175
A. J. Sabath (Ill.)	175
Miss Alice Robertson (Okla.)	150
M. C. Kelly (Penn.)	150
J. C. Tanager (Mass.)	150

Other Representatives who did not speak, but are represented in the "extension" list with their undelivered remarks costing the Treasury $100 or less, are: Ira Harter, of Maine; Clay Stone Briggs, of Texas; Albert C. Rossada, of New York; Cyrus Cole, of Iowa; Henry B. Stearns, of Alabama; Horace M. Tower, of Iowa; Tom Connolly, of Kentucky; William R. Green, of Iowa; Richard W. Parker, of New Jersey; Halvor Steenerson, of Minnesota; and John M. Robinson, of Kentucky.

At $20 a page, the actual cost of today's Record would total $10,000. For the short session the cost was figured on the $50-per-page basis, totaling $20,000. The total, however, according to the estimate of the printing committee, of which Senator Moses is the chairman, was in excess of $300,000. It was estimated that the average excess due to printing undelivered speeches, letters, etc., in eight-point instead of six-point type is something like $150,000.

In an effort to lessen the cost of the Record in the Sixty-eighth Congress, Senator Moses has written every Senator and Representative a letter in which he announces that the "eight-point evil" will be eliminated from now on. He says: "Beginning with the Sixty-eighth Congress, the Public Printer is hereby directed to print the verbatim report of the proceedings and debates of the Senate and House of Representatives as furnished by the official reporters of the Congressional Record in six-point type, solid, as heretofore, and to print all matter included in the remarks or speeches of members of Congress other than their own words, and all other matter authorized to be printed in the Record, in six-point type, solid, and that roll calls and digital pairs shall be printed in six-point type, solid."

The members of the committee, all of whom have approved the new rule, are Senators Moses, Capper and Fletcher, and Representatives Kiehl, Johnson and Stevenson. None of these appear in today's $10,000 issue of the Record.

The circulation of The Congressional Record is about 40,000, of which $10,000 is paid for by the Government. The rest is paid for by the subscribers. Anxiety on Ruhr Shown in London

LONDON, Mar. 17.—Anxiety continues to be shown by the newspapers in their discussions of the Ruhr situation and the discontent with the government's policy of non-interference which hitherto has been confined mainly to liberal and labor organs now is beginning to be shared by moderate organs like the Times and Spectator, which generally support the government.

Much curiosity is expressed concerning the outcome of the Franco-Belgian conference at Brussels, the common view being that although there is much obscurity as to what really happened at Brussels, the conference had a moderating influence on M. Poincaré. It being said by some that he found the Belgians statesmen not disposed to extremist French views. Hence there is a tendency that something may come of the negotiations. The Weekly Outlook thinks Premier Bonar Law's "timid behavior" in the matter puts his country in an ignominious position.

John St. Louis Strachey, editor and proprietor of the London Spectator, says in his paper that the time has arrived when the government must give the lead not only to the nation but to Europe and the world. "We are so near a Niagara," he adds "that if we are to avoid destruction we must move the general opinion of mankind."

"The British government must find its position on the fence increasingly uncomfortable," says the Economist. "Yet they, perhaps, are even more aware than the general public of the very serious danger of unimaginable catastrophe if the situation deteriorates."

L. A. WOMAN COMPLAINS CAN'T GET CAR SEAT; WANTS AUTO BUS LINE

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 17.—A request was received by the City Council recently that a franchise be granted a motor bus company, desiring to establish lines in Los Angeles from Mrs. Hattie Weikel, who declared that out of 1,150 street car rides from her home to the downtown business district and return she had been able to secure a seat only four times. The rides, she said, were spread over a period of four years.

In view of the lack of accommodations provided by the street car companies, she argued, the street car system should be supplemented by motor bus lines. The matter was referred to the city's Board of Public Utilities.

ON BLACK VELVET

A cluster of pink rose buds, outlined with pink leaves, making an ornament about six inches in diameter is the only trimming on a tiny hat of black felt with a narrow brim, shorter in the back than in front.

A human generation is counted as 25 years, a generation of flies covers seven or eight days.

Notornis, a bird which cannot fly, is almost extinct.

Ruhr Occupation Holds Interest

BERLIN, March 10.—The occupation of the Ruhr still holds the field of political interest. Nobody cares to predict the consequences either in the immediate future or in the long run. Rumors run riot as they did in the war. One day it is reported that labor—which has a great deal to say in the Ruhr—is tired of the struggle, and on the next that some Government emissary is on his way to some neutral capital with a scheme for mediation.

From hour to hour Dr. Cuno and his Ministers give interviews or make speeches to say they never will give in, and the trade union leaders back him up by declaring that whoever they may give in to, it will not be the French. Nevertheless, I gather that the occurrence has not improved relations between Berlin and Western Germany. But the occupation goes on, though it is admitted by everybody to be full of dangerous possibilities.

The more pessimistic seem inclined to think that it is only a question of time before either France or Germany denounces the Versailles Treaty. It seems very improbable, however, that such a drastic step would be taken without consultation at least with other signatories. There is a group of politicians at work in Berlin on a revision of the Treaty, quite apart from the group which has made a special business of waiting valuable time in proving that Germany was not responsible for the origins of the war.

I gather that the former group has gone to work on much more practical grounds, though it is not certain whether any serious progress has been made. After all, there is a good deal of room for disagreement in any scheme to amend that ponderous work.

Lack of Paper Money.
The lack of paper money is again causing grave inconvenience to the business world, and also to private persons. The banks are unable to pay cash for checks, and the result is that they generally hand over the counter a small sum on account and the balance in a check on the Reichsbank (Imperial Bank of Germany). They thus leave to their clients the task of collecting the amount, and some strange scenes are to be witnessed at the head office of the Reichsbank every morning. The bank opens at eight. An hour earlier messengers form a queue in order to be in time to obtain a card of admission to the pay cashier's office. The bank honors these checks only to a limited extent on any one day, and it is a case of first come first served. One is lucky if one gets one's money in an hour's time.

One of the worst features of the procedure is that the knowledge that all these people have come to fetch money attracts a very undesirable type of person to the neighborhood of the bank. The district has had to be watched by extra police, and messengers save to be sharply on the look-out that they do not get robbed.

Sometimes ago there was a great shortage of low value notes. Desperate efforts were made to meet the demand. In between the mark has made its last frightful jump and the notes which would have been a boon if they had come on to the market immediately are now a positive nuisance. What we really want is not a supply of twenty-mark notes, but an issue of fifty thousand marks notes. At the moment one requires a small suitcase to carry about the equivalent of fifty dollars even in one hundred or five hundred mark notes. The larger notes, it is said, are to come into circulation very shortly.

The Prodigious Farmer.
There has been what is expected to be only a temporary improvement. This generally coincides with the shortage of bank notes. But the general effect of the slump has been the rapid increase in the price of food. For instance, has gone up about 250 per cent. in the last fortnight, and there have been food riots in several of the poorer districts in Berlin. The public takes it out of the retailer, for whom there also exists a special prodigious court. But it is now generally admitted that the farmer is mainly responsible. He snags his fingers at the Government orders and quotes his prices only in the equivalent of dollars. He knows full well that any interference with him would bring the Agrarian party buzzing about the ears of Dr. Cuno's administration. It has been pointed out over and over again that cattle already fattened and about to be killed cannot cause the farmer any great expense, as he is not dependent on the import of cattle cake. But the farmer continues to quote in dollars and loudly claims to be "silly."

The "Spanner."
The decrees forbidding dancing in public, and ordering restaurants, cafes, and clubs to be closed at 11 o'clock has had the effect of setting on its feet anew that very indecent Berlin industry the night club. The mostly illicit gambling houses, drinking dens, and vice, are now being exhibited as a very great temptation to the police. It is argued as "perceptions," they flourish almost openly under the very nose of the law. Others in which cocaine is obtainable have, of course, to be more secret in their methods. They are very skillfully organized to meet police raids. The essence of the scheme is the right-club tout, called the "Spanner." A good spanner, who can successfully bamboozle the police while he earns his principal, is paid as much as one hundred thousand marks a night. He has a strong incentive to do his work well, because he is allowed to share in the plundering of foreigners' pockets going on in these places, and he is also liable to be badly maltreated by his fellow Spanners if he lets in the police and lets the organization down.

RAINBOW HAIRCLOTH.
Rainbow haircloth comes in a fascinating variety of hues and tints and is extremely popular now made into turbans for early spring wear.

Hoover To Defend His Title During Henley Regatta

BY WALTER CAMP
(Copyright, 1923, By The Bee)
NEW YORK, March 19.—Every American rowing enthusiast is interested in the announcement that Walter Hoover expects to defend his title at the British Henley this summer. Hoover's rowing was a mystery to the Britishers. Previous to his race they spoke quite disparagingly of his style and technique. But when the actual racing came they learned to their chagrin that whatever was the method of the American the result in actual application was that it made his shell travel into the lead—in fact that no opponent had a chance with him. And it would seem as if he should repeat his triumph if he gets into conditions.

Someone said "Gold will inherit the earth" and the latest proof of the strength of that proverb was given when no less a personage than Walter Hoover, a baseball game the "go-by" to finish out his golf match. This is indeed serious and may be ruled as "Golf Majestic" to the National Golf Association. It is said that Hoover is a responsible partner in the business.

Eddie Egan, the former Yale captain of the boxing team, now a Rhodes scholar at Oxford, proved the "God from the Car" who enabled Oxford to win the competition with Cambridge by taking honors in both the rowing and the chess classes giving the Dark Blue a victory 4 to 3. Old Yale men and A. E. F. men are quite familiar with Egan's skill and not in the least surprised that in both bouts the one against the former Grotton boy Simpson and the one against Mickie the referee was obliged to stop the contest to save Egan's victims from further punishment.

Rather than interfere with or jeopardize Oxford's changes in the boat race a British court adjourned the hearing in the automobile case in the dock yesterday. No. 7 in the Dark Blue boat was summoned. Some triumph for rowing! It reminds one of the times when Yale-Princeton football games were played on Thanksgiving Day in New York and church services were scheduled for the morning, as afternoon services found few attendants. In fact it was respect for the wishes of the church that these games were finally held previous to that holiday.

ACCUSED DANCER
KEPT IN JAIL
(By The Associated Press)
NTACK, N. Y., Mar. 17.—Evan Burrows Fontaine, and her mother, Mrs. Florence E. Fontaine, will be forced to remain in the country jail at New City over the week-end as the result of Supreme Court Justice Tompkins refusal late today to accept the bail offered by their attorneys for their release pending arraignment on charges of perjury growing out of Miss Fontaine's $1,000,000 breach of promise suit against Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney.
Although no announcement was made, it was learned that the accused dancer and her mother were held in $5,000 cash and the property refusal consisted of real estate.

RICHMOND, Va., March 17.—Suit has been commenced here by Judge William F. Rhea, chairman of the State Corporation Commission, against Earl H. Grunwald, a member of the board of aldermen. Several months ago a car belonging to Colonel Grunwald and driven by his chauffeur, struck a car in which Judge Rhea was riding, wrecking the latter's machine and seriously injuring him. Judge Rhea was detained at his home for several weeks. The suit is for $10,000 damages.

HUNGER STRIKE OFF

(By The Associated Press)

DEDDHAM, Mass., March 17.—The hunger strike of Nicola Sacco, convicted with Bartolomeo Vanzetti of first degree murder was concluded at the end of the thirty-first day when the prisoner was taken to the Boston Psychopathic Hospital from the Norfolk County jail here tonight to be forcibly fed and placed under observation as to his sanity. Dr. Abraham Myerson, of Boston, a specialist retained by the Sacco-Vanzetti defense committee to care for Sacco, administered food to the patient with the aid of jail attendants.
Judge Webster Thayer's action today in committing Sacco to the hospital resulted in another postponement of indefinite length, this time, of hearings on motions for a new trial brought by defense counsel. The murder and robbery of a paymaster and his guard in South Braintree, which resulted in the arrest and conviction of Sacco and Vanzetti, occurred in April, 1920. The men were convicted by a jury of 15 members later, and litigation continued for a month. A new trial has been in progress since.

Sacco, although apparently very weak, was able to walk with the assistance of a deputy sheriff and his wife from an ambulance to the hospital, which conveyed him to the Boston Psychopathic Hospital. His face, emaciated by his long fast, was deathly pale under a heavy corp of jet black beard. He spent most of the day in bed and was assisted in dressing by jail attendants.

"ROBIN HOOD"

Next Attraction At the Majestic Theatre, Thursday, March 22nd.

From the theatre-goer's point of view, there is only one thing important in an announcement of a presentation of "Robin Hood." That one thing is the company and its ability to interpret the beloved light opera. Of "Robin Hood" itself enough is known to mark it the ideal entertainment, plain to the conception of everybody, wonderful in its general appeal. The music and parts are there. It is the company that counts.
May Valentine has given to the stage the best of young American singers. She has some other "her" artists; she did not wait for them to come to her. The Baltimore Sun, speaking of the same company that will be seen at the Majestic Theatre on Thursday night, March 22nd, says: "Demanded 'Robin Hood' with popular responsiveness, marked 'Robin Hood' at the Academy as a well sung, well-played, pleasingly staged production. The chorus is remarkably good and the capable cast brought back to the stage a masterpiece that may be recommended without reservation."
"Almost all of the beautiful airs were demanded again and again and the principals had to respond to curiously calls after the first act. O. Promise Me," "Brown October Ale" and "The Armourer's Song" have not lost their appeal. "Robin Hood" is a treat."
Prices: 50c to $2.00. Seat sale opens Monday at 10 a. m.

NEWS FROM CHATHAM

CHATHAM, March 17.—The Agriculture short course which was held in the court house this week was well attended at each session although the days were both very inclement and roads deep in mud.

In addition to the splendid lectures moving pictures were shown at each session dealing with subjects of vital importance to the farmers and citizens generally and much desirable information was gleaned by all who were so interested. The lectures to house keepers and the female members of the household were very helpful indeed and much stress was laid on the importance of teaching girls domestic science and other subjects that will aid in them in making better wives and mothers. While this is not a sheep raising section this subject was given considerable time and it was shown that the greatest menace to this profitable industry was worthless dogs which cost the country annually forty dollars each. The course as a whole was in every way a success and every one aiding in its success deserve the thanks of the people generally. The continuous rains of the past three days have caused the streams to be higher than in many years and at the same times the public highways are almost impassable owing to the soft mud.

The winter as a whole has not had the usual rainfall and the land is now more thoroughly soaked with water than at any time for several months. So far no damage as to bridges has been reported.

Ground was this week broken for the new rectory for Emmanuel Episcopal church. It is to be a modern brick structure and will be on Main street just a short distance from the church and will fill a long needed want. Rev. T. G. Faulkner now rector hopes to get into his new home by early spring.

Monday the regular March term of Pittsylvania County circuit court will open with Judge J. T. Clement presiding. The docket of criminal cases is of considerable length, many of which are for violations of the prohibition law. The civil docket is about the usual length. More than one week will be required to dispose of all of the cases.

Receipts of tobacco by the Co-ops have been holding up well considering the small amount now in the hands of the country but this season will about equal all of it sold. Prices have held well and the Co-op members are well pleased with their returns.

Miss Anice Adams, Powell principal of the Chatham Episcopal Institute was this week guest of her parents and friends at Wytheville, Va.

Senator N. E. Clement spent the week end at his home here.

Candidates for the numerous county offices are increasing each week for sheriff with the incumbent three have announced their desire to serve the citizens, cor-commissioner in the second district nine have cast their hats in the ring, for Commonwealth's attorney Insurance Rison will be opposed by H. I. Overby and David P. Williams, and so on down the line. The campaign promises to be a live one and the number will increase as the spring weather draws near.

Supervisor J. Whitehead operated on at University Hospital several days ago is improving rapidly and will return to his home at an early date.

Miss Leslie Patterson recently operated on at St. Lukes has returned to her home.

DOCTOR IN FRITZI MANN
MURDER BLAMES ALTRUISM

(Special to The Bee.)
SAN DIEGO, Calif., March 18.—

Good Samaritan to a pretty girl on a perilous byway of love.

Dr. Louis L. Jacobs, 30, defendant captain in the United States Public Health Service at Camp Kearney, will seek to persuade a jury this was his odd role in the case of Fritz Mann, for whose murder he stands indicted and will go to trial March 25.

"Damned fool altruism," he says, accounted for his interest in the attractive 20-year-old cabaret dancer whose half-clad body was found on the lonely Torrey Pines beach Jan. 15.

For the circumstances shaping the tragedy and for any act leading to her death the army physician has stoutly disclaimed guilt.

Case Circumstantial.

The case against him so far as it has been divulged by District Attorney Kempster is wholly circumstantial. He expects to establish an alibi "when the proper time comes."

Prosecution is based on the theory that Miss Mann was stunned by a blow on the head, and was then cast into the sea, where she drowned after a brief interval.

She had spent the early part of the previous evening with a man at the Blue Sea cottages in La Jolla.

The two arrived in a closed car and were registered by E. A. Kern, proprietor of the man and wife under fictitious names.

Kern had scrutinized the woman carefully and identified her readily about the man he was less certain.

Miss Mann and her escort left the cabin for an hour, returned and left again for good, Kern will tell the jury.

Possessions Scattered.

The spot where the body was found is 10 miles away. On the roof, apparently scattered in flight, were the handbag, vanity case and luncheon of the dancer and a blanket from the Blue Sea cottage.

That the pretty entertainer was the victim of a mad man is the autopsy testimony. She had loved someone, not wisely but too well, according to surgeons.

And it was in worry of the consequences that she consulted him, declares Dr. Jacobs. He had, he admitted, advised her about a contemplated operation which was to have taken place a few days after the sea solved her problem. He had also arranged for a nurse, police say.

"I am a friend of the dead girl," the army man told officers the day investigation started. "She had recently confided in me. Told me she was secretly married. I want to do what I can to help clear the mystery."

Dr. Jacobs was arrested, released on a writ or habeas corpus and then secretly indicted two weeks later after Chief of Police Patrick had said to him, "I'm not at all satisfied with what you have told us."

The weakness of the state's case

is the professed inability of E. A. Kern positively to identify Jacobs as the man who occupied his cottage with Miss Mann.

Dr. Jacobs' defense weakness lies in failure thus far to substantiate with witnesses his claim that he was at the Grand Hotel during the hours fixed by investigators as the death period.

Army friends are strongly aligned behind the Camp Kearney captain and the trial promises to be one of the bitterest contests ever fought in San Diego courts.

Fritz Mann was born in Austria of Polish-Hungarian parents. She lived in Denver from childhood until about two years ago, when she came to San Diego and Los Angeles.

Giant Dirigible
'ZR-1' May Visit
Polar Regions

LAKEHURST, N. J., Mar. 17.—The air monster ZR-1, giant dirigible which will probably be used in the proposed naval expedition to the North and South poles, is rapidly nearing completion and will be ready to be "launched" in a few months, according to Commander R. Weyerhaeuser in charge of construction of the big ship.

Already the "skeleton" of the huge craft has taken form in the large hangar here, and a small army of aerial "robbers" swarm daily over the framework at the job of installing engines and equipment.

The dirigible, when completed, will be 620 feet long over all and will be 70 feet in diameter.

Its massive envelope, containing 15 smaller bags will carry two million cubic feet of non-inflammable helium, a gas which is immune to sudden atmospheric changes such as would be encountered on the contemplated polar trip.

Six engines, especially built for the airship by the Packard Motor Company of Detroit, will be capable of developing 300 horsepower each.

Naval authorities refuse to estimate the probable speed which may be attained by the monster ship, but it is believed that it will surpass all records made previously by dirigibles, whether of the rigid or semi-rigid type.

The carbag will be made of "gold-beater's skin," made from the intestines of cattle, and will be specially treated to resist weather conditions.

The structure of the ship will be duraluminum, an exceptionally light metal. This also will be treated to make it impervious to weather.

A special composition will be applied to the base structure, engines and gas tanks to avoid frictional resistance.

Work on the dirigible, now 75 per cent. complete, will be finished about July 1, according to Commander Weyerhaeuser. A large part of the dirigible system has already been installed, he declared.

A PUZZLE A DAY

Thirty-six shrubs were planted in even rows as shown above. It will be noted that each vertical and horizontal row, and the two diagonal rows, contain an even number of shrubs; namely, six. A wind storm uprooted six of the shrubs, but the 30 that remained still had an even number in each row, vertical, horizontal and diagonal. Can you cross out the six shrubs that were destroyed?

Yesterday's answer:
If the number 37 is multiplied by 3, it will bring 111, by 6, 222, by 9, 333, by 12, 444, by 15, 555, by 18, 666, by 21, 777, by 24, 888, by 27, 999.
